HELPING STUDENTS BUILD THEIR READING SKILLS

WRITING (Typing)

The goals of literacy are to be able to construct meaning effectively from a written text and to encode written text accurately in writing. In order to do this, students need to master a number of skills. Activities in ABRACADABRA are inter-related, therefore, if you notice your student is struggling in one area, you may want to suggest doing another activity that focuses on the same broad skill. You could also use this list to determine where students can extend the practice of recently acquired skills. This allows them to practice and develop their mastery of these skills.

When children write, they take their knowledge of speech sounds and translate those into written texts. Children usually begin scribbling before they begin to read. The process of learning how to write well and effectively requires time, instruction, and practice.
